Dear Sir / Madam,

I have recently learned, with great regret, that you are in the process of passing legislation that will prevent me from trading options in my retirement account. This is extremely disappointing since I have taken the time and effort to learn and employ proper (safe) option trading. Trading options safely has allowed me to grow my retirement account (IRA) by over 75% in the past 3 1/2 years. In addition, the way I trade options actually greatly reduces the risk that my retirement account would otherwise be exposed to. If not permitted to trade options in my retirement account, it would force me to take high risk in the stock market in order to replace the lost income from the very low risk options technique that I have learned to employ. So, for me and the countless others who trade options in a safe way, to generate income and grow their retirement plans, please do not eliminate this extremely important options trading platform. It would have an extremely negative effect on my retirement.

Sincerely,
